PETERSBURG, November 28.

WHEN her Imperial Highness the Great Dutchess nominated Count Munich Prime Minister, she said before all the Court, 'There's 'my Defender as well as that of the Empire; 'it is he that delivered us from the Birons and 'their evil Designs.' It has been ordered that the Count shall take Place immediately after the Duke of Brunswick, and before all the Ministers and Generals.

When the Duke of Courland was carried to Schusselbourg, nothing was omitted that might humble him as well as his Wife: They were not only left expos'd about half an Hour to the Rain and Snow before the Gate of the Winter Palace, where the People loaded him with Curses, but the Duke had also the Mortification when he stept into the Waggon that was to carry him to the Fortress, to see about thirty Persons that had been let out of the Prison, and reproached him with being the Author of their Sufferings: Of this Number was M. Andrew Jackowitz, Counsellor of State and Secretary of the Cabinet, who has been so severely disciplin'd with the Knout, that he will feel the Effects of it as long as he lives. As it is fear'd the Duke of Courland and Count Gustavus Biron his Brother may attempt some desperate Action upon themselves, Doctor Smith a German Physician is order'd to attend them in the Fortress. All the Generals, Officers, &c. who had been promoted by the Duke, or were in his Confidence, have either been arrested or turned out of their Places. All his Domesticks, being about sixty, have likewise been committed to Prison. Strict Search is making after his chief Favourite, Liepman the Jew, whose detestable Counsels sway'd in a great Measure the Duke's Conduct.

Petersburg, Dec. 20. The Conduct of General Keith is highly applauded, in refusing to take the Oaths to the Duke of Courland. The General being inform'd by his Friends here of the Intrigues carried on during the Empress's Sickness, judg'd that the Regency of the Duke of Courland would meet with strong Opposition. Upon which, having fix'd his Resolution, he assembled all the Officers, and spoke to them in the following Terms;

'Gentlemen,

'I have just receiv'd the melancholy News of the Death 'of her Imperial Majesty, our most gracious Sovereign, and 'the proclaiming the Emperor John III. our present lawful 'Sovereign. Here is the Form of the Oath, in which Obe'dience and Fidelity are not confin'd to the Sacred Person 'of his Imperial Majesty, but are to be understood likewise 'of the Duke of Courland in Quality of Regent. I declare 'to you, Gentlemen, that I tender with Joy the Oath of 'Fidelity and Obedience to our present most gracious Em'peror John III. and am ready to spill my Blood for him 'and his august Parents; that, next to his Imperial Majesty, 'I am ready to obey and submit to them; but it does not 'become me to bind myself by any Oath to the Duke of 'Courland.'

This frank and bold Declaration made an Impression on several Officers, who follow'd the Example of General Keith; but a great many of them took the Oath in the Form prescribed, alledging that they dreaded too much the Resentments of the Duke of Courland.

Vienna, Dec. 31. The following is a Copy of a Letter lately written by the Grand Duke of Tuscany to the States General.

'High and Mighty Lords,

'Besides the Assurances that your High Mightinesses have 'given me in your Letter of the 3d of last Month, I have 'been inform'd by your Minister at Vienna, as well as by my 'own at the Hague, what has been done in Consequence 'thereof, which convinces me of your Intention to support 'the Interests of the Queen and myself, which most assuredly 'are inseparable from that of the Republick.

'Upon this Principle, and thro' the Confidence which I 'have in the Friendship of your High Mightinesses, I do 'not hesitate a Moment upon acquainting you with my de'sign of supporting my Pretensions to the Imperial Crown. 'I am sensible how much your High Mightinesses are capa'ble of doing for me on this Occasion. I earnestly demand 'and pray you will afford me your good Offices in the Man'ner you shall think most suitable, and be at the same 'Time thoroughly persuaded of the Sense I shall, thro' the 'Course of my Life, preserve of it, and of the very particu'lar Attachment with which I shall always be,

'High and Mighty Lords,

'Your most humble, and

'Most affectionate Servant,

'FRANCIS.'

Berlin, Dec. 24. The following is the King's Letter to the States General on the March of his Troops into Silesia.

'High and Mighty Lords,

'We cannot dispense with ourselves from accquainting 'your High Mightinesses, that in order to maintain the in'disputable Rights of our Royal and Electoral House to 'the Dutchy of Silesia, we have been oblig'd to march our 'Troops towards that Dutchy, in order to secure to our'selves the Possession of it in the present Juncture, against 'all those that might attempt any thing there to our Pre'judice. The Rights of our Royal and Electoral House 'to that Dutchy are partly founded on ancient Pacts of Suc'cession and Co-fraternity between our Predecessors in the 'Electorial Dignity and the Dukes of Silesia, of Brieg, 'Lignitz and Wohlau, as well as upon other incontestable 'Grounds. Consequently, those Rights never could be taken away from us, in prejudice of the Fundamental Laws of our Royal and Electoral Houſe, by the Conventions extorted from it, which, however were never accomplish'd.

'In the preſent Conjuncture which makes us juſtly apprehend a War about the Succeſſion of the Archducal Houſe of Auſtria, we ſhould have been very glad to have been able to explain ourſelves firſt of all with the Queen of Hungary and Bohemia, with good Underſtanding: But as the leaſt Delay was dangerous, and that it cannot be requir'd of us to ſubmit our Rights to the Succeſs of a doubtful and uncertain Negotiation, we cannot be blam'd for employing proper Methods to ſecure a Country to which we have ſuch juſt Pretenſions.

'Your High Mightineſſes, in your great Penetration, and conformable to the Affection and Friendſhip of which you have hitherto given us Proofs, will no doubt judge that we could not act otherwiſe then we have done. You will likewiſe be ſo good as to be perſuaded that we don't pretend in the leaſt, as we proteſt before God, to do any Prejudice to any Perſon, and much leſs to the Archducal Houſe of Auſtria, with whom we will concert the Affair in Queſtion to its Satisfaction. We will alſo cheerfully employ the Forces and the Means God has entruſted us with, for maintaining entire the Syſtem of the Empire, as well as the Rights, Liberties and Privileges of all its Members and States, ſecuring the Empire in general from any Invaſion, and providing it with a worthy Chief.

'Your High Mightineſſes will doubt the leſs of our Sentiments in this reſpect, and we depend ſo much upon your not ſuffering yourſelves to be deluded, becauſe we hope to convince the impatial World, and the Houſe of Auſtria in particular, of our Intentions for the true and ſole Intereſt of the Empire. Upon which, we remain, &c.

Vienna, Dec. 31. The Pope's Nuncio has receiv'd a Brief for ſolemnly acknowledging the Queen, and all her Titles.

Milan, Dec. 21. We hear that the Duke of Modena is augmenting his Troops, and likewiſe the other Princes in Italy; and that all neceſſary Meaſures are taking in this Country to oppoſe the Enterprizes which threaten us from a foreign Power.

Berlin, Jan. 7. The following is the Purport of the States General's Anſwer to the Letter that the King wrote to them upon his Troops entring Sileſia. Their High Mightineſſes, after having thank'd his Majeſty for his Notification of this Event, adds, 'That they were neither able to judge of this 'Step, nor of the Pretenſions of the King, not having been 'ſufficiently informed thereof. That it was only to be apprehended that the Conſequences would not entirely anſwer the avow'd Deſign of his Majeſty, namely, to entertain 'a perfect good Underſtanding with the Queen of Hungary, and to preſerve the Syſtem of the Empire, &c. 'That they learn'd, however, with Joy, that his Majeſty would make himſelf underſtood upon this Subject in a ſatisfactory Manner to the Court of Vienna. That their High Mightineſſes could have heartily wiſh'd, that his Majeſty would have been pleaſed to have informed them of the Reſolution before he had put it in Execution. That they ardently deſired, as Affairs were at preſent ſituate, that his Majeſty would uſe his Efforts to prevent the taking Effect of any Scheme which may give Occaſion for exciting Troubles, as he was no Stranger to the Engagements that ſeveral Powers were entered into. That their High Mightineſſes, on their Part, will be always attentive to promote ſuch ſalutary Views, and will contribute thereto to the utmoſt of their Power, &c. This Letter concludes with Aſſurances of the States General's ſincere Deſire ſtill 'to cultivate the ſame good Intelligence with the King 'which hath ſubſiſted between them and his Predeceſſors, 'ſeeing the Friendſhip and Affection of his Majeſty will be 'always precious to their High Mightineſſes.

Paris, Jan. 13. The Count de Belle-Iſle, whom the King ſends to the approaching Dyet of Francfort with the Character of Embaſſador Extraordinary, is principally charged to exhort the Electors to proceed unanimouſly in the Choice of a new Emperor.

Breſlau, Jan. 2. The King of Pruſſia enter'd this City to Day: His Majeſty was receiv'd here by the Inhabitants with great Demonſtrations of Joy, having aſſur'd them of his Protection. Veldt-Marſhal Count Schwerin, with part of the Army, is arriv'd at Lignitz. The Pruſſian Troops don't ſeem to be fatigu'd with their long March, notwithſtanding the Badneſs of the Weather; they want for nothing, and obſerve every where an exact Diſcipline, ſo that there is not the leaſt Complaint made of them. 'Tis thought the King of Pruſſia will ſtay ſome Days in this City.

LONDON, January 8.

They write from Naples, that they have received 20 Battering Pieces from Capua, and expect a great many more in a ſhort time, the Court being reſolved to have a large Train of Artillery for the Expedition they are going upon. They add, that the Diſpatches of the laſt Courier Extraordinary they received from Madrid were to the following Purpoſe; 'That ſhould the Regency of Vienna not notify 'to the King the Death of the Emperor, his Sicilian 'Majeſty ſhould nevertheleſs go into Mourning on that 'Occaſion: And that as to the Troops, they muſt be augmented to 20,000 Men, both Horſe and Foot; but that it 'is ſufficient to keep them in readineſs to act, without putting them into motion, until freſh Advices on that Head 'came from Madrid.'

The Maſter of the Ship lately arriv'd at Genoa from Toulon reports, that the French continue fitting up with the utmoſt Diſpatch all the Men of War in this laſt Port, and are laying up great Quantities of Naval Stores as well as Proviſions.

NEW-YORK, April 20.

Extract of a Letter from Jamaica, March 6. 1741.

"This Day arrived here a Snow Man of War from London, who in her Paſſage here, touch'd at Antigua, but what intelligence ſhe brings is to us ſtill unknown, the Captain not ſuffering any of his People to come on Shore, or any of the People of this Iſland to come on board of him, by which we imagine ſhe has brought an extraordinary Packet.

April 27. Saturday laſt arrived here Capt. Farmer, in 5 Weeks and 2 Days from London, by whom we hear, that a War with France is ſtill talked of, and the military Preparations are ſtill carrying on; ſeveral Regiments it is ſaid, being ordered to be ſent over to Holland. And by private Letters we are informed, that a Motion was made in both Houſes of Parliament, for an Addreſs to his Majeſty, to diſmiſs from his Preſence and Employments the Prime Miniſter: Which was carried in the Negative by a great Majority. We likewiſe hear, that ſeveral more Men of War and Tranſports are to be ſent to the Weſt-Indies.

Yeſterday arrived here Capt. Leacraft in 22 Days from Jamaica, by whom we hear, that our Men of War have taken and ſent into Jamaica ſeveral more Spaniſh Store Ships bound to Carthagena, in one of which was a Spaniſh Governor and Lieut. Governor, who are both ſafely lodged at Jamaica. That a Sloop from Coracoa is arrived at Jamaica with two large Packets, one for the Governor, the other for Admiral Vernon. We hear that they are in very great want of Proviſions at Coracoa.

Two

Two Transport Veſſels who parted with Admiral Vernon's Fleet in the Night, and ſince that endeavoured for Carthagena, but falling to Leward of it, returned to Jamaica, where they received their Orders ſealed up, and accordingly ſailed the next Day to join the Admiral, from whom the People at Jamaica are impatient to hear.

The two Men of War (formerly mentioned) who put into Lisbon to refit, are joined the Fleet.

Extract of a Letter from St. Chriſtophers, dated March 23.

---- "There has been many Veſſels drove off your Coaſt "this Winter; among the Reſt, a Palatine Ship, ſometime "ago commanded by Capt. John Beach, arrived here in a "miſerable Condition, 170 Souls died on the Paſſage; thoſe "that have eſcaped with their Lives remain here: There "have been conſiderable Collections made for them, and "many have bound themſelves on certain Conditions to the "Planters, &c. here: I believe they had much rather been "in Pennſylvania; but they are quite diſheartened, and durſt "not venture to Sea again, after meeting with ſo many "Hardſhips and Diſappointments.
